

debco presents...

Josh's 2 Cents

Scrambling before I leave the house is not my usual M.O. on days I am travelling. However, on a recent trip out west, I found myself a little less than prepared. As I gathered my essentials to make my way to the airport, I realized that my unmentionables were still in the dryer from the night before. My bags were otherwise packed and ready, so thinking quickly, I stuffed my boxers into one of the spacious compartments on my trusty RB4405 Extra Large Duffel Bag/Knapsack on Wheels.

Fast forward to my first meeting of the day, in a busy part of the city which is on a direct route from the airport. I am ensconced in a rambunctious Product Knowledge session with one of our fun and lively distributor partners, unable for a moment to find our new CU8498 Credit Card Cable Organizer.

"You're going to love this," I say. "It's absolutely stunning with our HD Ready decoration. We've had dozens of people create their own business cards with them!"

"Oh, really? I can't wait to see them – I already have a client in mind." She is so enthused that she innocently begins looking through my bag to help me. Suddenly she stops, and I think "perfect, she's found them!" But a strange, half-smile on her face confuses me.

"So, Debco is into apparel now?"

"I'm sorry?"

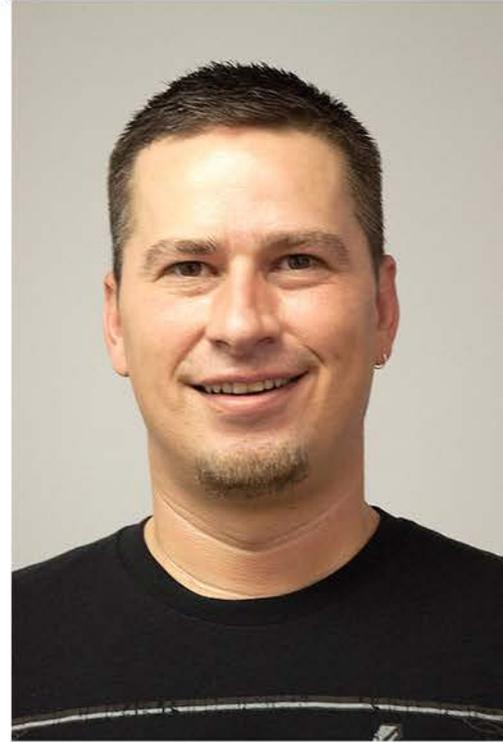

She holds up her hands and, much to my sudden horror, presents me with a pair of my freshly laundered and folded boxer shorts.

I have no idea what shade of red I turned, but it must have been pretty spectacular. And comical. It took a few minutes before we could compose ourselves, and to wipe the tears of laughter from our eyes.

The RB4405 with its ample storage compartments really came in handy that day, almost as much as my Mother's words of advice, remembered from my childhood;

"Make sure you always have lots of clean underwear – you never know when you will need it". You can count on that, Mom!
