

COMING OUT OF THE SHADE BAMBOO

UP CLOSE AND PERSONAL

Bamboo is quickly taking the world of promotional products by storm. It is a fascinating material due to its incredible strength and regenerative properties. Incredibly, a pole of bamboo can regenerate to its full mass in just six months. It can be continuously re-harvested every three to seven years without causing damage to the plant system and the re-harvesting actually improves the overall health of the plant. Its surrounding environment is not harmed because its root system stays intact so erosion is prevented.

Bamboo wood:

When treated, bamboo forms a very hard wood which is both lightweight and exceptionally durable. It also removes up to five times the amount of greenhouse gases as an equivalent stand of trees. Bamboo has a tensile strength greater than many alloys of steel.

Bamboo fabric

A technique of making bamboo fibre from bamboo pulp has been developed through an innovative process. The smaller bamboo fibres are spun into super-soft yarns and fabrics and the textile industry use these fabrics for many different items. It is soft, absorbent, anti-bacterial, anti-microbial, UV resistant, hypo-allergenic and thermo-regulating. It is a great alternative to cotton because there is only a fraction of the time and resources spent on producing bamboo for fabric as there is cotton. Bamboo does not require the large amounts of water and pesticides that cotton does, nor does it require the attentive care of cotton. Our new and luxurious TO7126 is made from bamboo. It is lightweight, strong and extremely soft to the touch.
